

Harassment

IN THE WORKPLACE

The annual cost of harassment and discrimination in the US workplace skyrocketed to $372 million—up $6.7 million since 2012. Awareness of this taboo topic is growing more necessary to employers of all sizes. This training covers the essentials of workplace harassment and discrimination; giving definitions, examples, scenarios and guidance to staff and supervisors alike.

This session will cover:

- The true definition of Harassment & Discrimination as it applies in the workplace.
- The list of protected classes under federal law and the list of each law.
- Why perception is reality.
- How you can be held personally accountable.
- What retaliation means and how it hurts the workplace.
- What harassment is NOT.
- Scenarios and examples of harassment and discrimination in a work setting.
